

The Axminster Heritage Centre project

The aim is to create a centre, highlighting the long history of Axminster with an emphasis on its carpet manufacturing. The collection of the current Town Museum will be relocated to Thomas Whitty House in Silver Street, Whitty's original carpet factory. Later the collection will be complemented by a working loom and carpets as well as modern interactive displays that appeal to visitors of all ages. There will be opportunities to see and learn a variety of wool based crafts, such as weaving, spinning, and felting. There will also be a cafe and small shop.

YOU can be involved in this project

- be part of making history in Axminster

Volunteers are needed for:

- Front of house
- The Archives
- Education and story telling
- Weaving, spinning and wool work
