

Painting roses and birds on a trellis in the style of William Morris'

Mixed media suitable for beginners and intermediates

William Morris has always looked to nature for his designs. Many of his patterns have become icons of good English taste. In this workshop we will look at his stylised birds and flowers and paint our own version of roses and birds on a trellis.

Bring your painting equipment, paper and a packed lunch for a morning studying this famous artist and using the Devon hedgehog as our inspiration.
