

'Was There an Anglo-Saxon Battle in the Axe Valley?'

A re-examination of what the various documentary sources can and cannot tell us about events in the Axe Valley in the 10th century, including some pieces of evidence which have not previously been examined.

by David Knapman

Due to the original event being over-subscribed, and to avoid disappointment, this talk will be repeated on Thursday 8th August at 19:30 in The Bradshaw Room, Thomas Whitty House, Silver Street, Axminster

Tickets: £5.00 (including tea or coffee and biscuits). Please either buy a ticket in advance from Axminster Heritage Centre, or reserve a ticket (to be paid in cash on the door) from info@axminsterheritage.org or 01297 636684 (between 10:00 and 16:00 weekdays or 10:00 to 13:00 Saturdays).
